第一节(共 15 小题;每小题 2.5 分, 满分 37.5 分)

阅读下列短文, 从每题所给的 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选出最佳选项。

A

Pick-your-own farms are set for a post-lockdown boom this summer, as people look to support local businesses and spend more time outdoors. Here are four of our favorites.

Parkside Farm, Enfield

Juicy blackberries, and strawberries are the stars of the show at this pick-your-own place on the northern edge of London. One key selling point is the “table-top” strawberry-growing system, which means plants are grown in places at waist height — no more bending down in the dirt to pick your berries. Parkside is also one of the few farms accessible without a car, as long as you don’t mind a walk — it’s 25 minutes from Gordon Hill station.

Craigie’s Farm, Scotland

Just outside Edinburgh, Craigie’s Farm is bursting with produce including cherries, peas, broad beans and, perhaps surprisingly, sunflowers. The onsite shop, deli and cafe have a lot more to offer besides fruits and vegetables — you can pick up homemade jams, meat, cheese and an apple press for making your own juice. There are activities for children too, including a Nature Detective Trail involving encounters with sheep and goats.

Hewitts Farm, Kent

This family-run farm in Kent offers everything from spinach to apples and blackberries during its pick-your-own season, which runs from June to October (for Halloween pumpkins). There’s also a shop selling farm-grown and local produce, as well as free tractor rides for youngsters on Sundays during the summer.

Bellis Brothers Farm, Wrexham

This farm in North Wales started growing strawberries back in 1860 and has operated as a pick-your-own since 1967. More fruits have been added since then, but it’s still mostly known for its strawberries. Pickers can download Bellis family strawberry recipes from the farm’s website, including those for jams and a baked strawberry cheesecake.

21. Which of the following is TRUE about Parkside Farm?
- A. You can enjoy sunflowers in the sunshine.
 - B. You can pick berries without bending down.
 - C. You need not worry about getting dirty on the farm.
 - D. You must drive there due to its long distance from the station.
22. Which place is recommended if visitors want farm-grown and local produce?
- A. Parkside Farm.
 - B. Craigie’s Farm.
 - C. Hewitts Farm.
 - D. Bellis Brothers Farm.
23. In which part of the magazine can you probably find this passage?
- A. Business.
 - B. Books.
 - C. Sports.
 - D. Travel.

B

As a child I was one of the 125 people at our family gathering for New Year. These days we were a much smaller group in Belle Valley, Ohio. I insisted on acting as hostess and wanted to bring back the joy I'd felt at my childhood New Year that filled with love.

As family members arrived at the hall, I handed each one of them a numbered card and said, "Time for the alphabet (字母) game." "What kind of game is that?" one of my great-grandchildren asked. "Well," I said, "who's got number one?" A cousin raised her hand. "Tell us something you never forget," I said. "Something that begins with the letter A." My cousin smiled. "Apple pie!" she said. Great-granddaughter Mindy was next. "B," she said. "I am impressed by Buckeye Country." "Cookies!" Number 3 shouted.

Until Number 17, "The next one's a challenge," I said. "Who's got 17?" Ryan, my son, slowly raised his hand. "Q," he said. "Quaker City Carnival (嘉年华)." The room went silent. "It's one of the oldest traditions in Ohio," Ryan said. "Grandma and Grandpa met there. That's where they fell in love. That's where this whole thing started. This whole family." Ryan looked around the room, making eye contact with everyone. "We wouldn't be here celebrating New Year together if it wasn't for Quaker City Carnival."

The room burst into laughter and was full of love. "This is the best New Year we've ever had," a great-grandson said to me secretly. Whatever their New Year would look like when they grew up, they'd remember this one. And for me, I had an unforgettable New Year to treasure — a memory where love started with the letter Q.

24. Why did the author want to organize the alphabet game?

- A. To enjoy the family gathering.
- B. To act as the hostess of the New Year party.
- C. To share moving stories with family.
- D. To experience long-lost New Year happiness.

25. Based on the game rule, which word will you give if you get number 23?

- A. Teddy Bear.
- B. Yogurt.
- C. Steak.
- D. Watermelon.

26. Why did Ryan's story get family members' laughter?

- A. They understood the meaning of love.
- B. They knew their grandparents better.
- C. It was connected with their family roots.
- D. It brought a tradition back to them.

27. Which can be a suitable title for the text?

- A. A Letter Full of Love
- B. A Traditional New Year Game
- C. A Family Custom at New Year
- D. A Love Story About the Carnival

C

Why are some people more motivated (积极的) to handle difficult things? And is there a way to make doing difficult things easy? To answer this question, we need to look at this: dopamine (多巴胺). Dopamine is often considered a pleasure molecule (分子). But that's not quite what it does. Dopamine is what makes us desire things. And it's that desire that gives us the motivation to get up and do things.

In fact, your brain considers something more important than others mainly depending on how much dopamine it's expecting to get. If an activity releases too little dopamine, you won't have much motivation to do it. But if an activity releases a lot of dopamine, you'll be motivated to repeat it, over and over. So which behavior releases dopamine? Any activity where you expect there's a possible reward releases it.

And in today's digital society, we are flooding our brains with unnaturally high amounts of dopamine on a daily basis, even if we don't know it. Some examples of high dopamine behavior include: visiting social media websites, playing video games, etc.

And you might think, "Oh so what? It's not like it's harming me in any way." But you'd be wrong. Our bodies have a biological system called homeostasis (体内动态平衡). Whenever an imbalance occurs, our body adapts to it. Basically your brain gets used to having high levels of dopamine and those levels become your new normal. Thus you develop a dopamine tolerance. This can be a huge problem because the things that don't give you as much dopamine don't interest you any longer. That's why people tend to prefer playing video games or surfing the Internet, compared to studying or working on their business.

But it is possible to make doing difficult things feel easier. Separate yourself from the unnaturally high amounts of dopamine, or at least expose yourself to it far less frequently. Only then will normal, everyday, low dopamine activities become exciting again and you'll be able to do them for longer. That's why you might want to limit your phone and computer usage, along with other high dopamine-releasing behavior.

We are all dopamine addicts (入迷的人) to a certain extent. And that's a good thing because dopamine motivates us to achieve our goals and improve ourselves. But it's up to you to decide where you're going to get your dopamine. Are you going to get it from things that don't benefit you? Or are you going to get it from working on your long-term goals? The choice is yours.

28. When is dopamine released?

- A. When difficult things come into being.
- B. When we take pleasure in the behavior.
- C. When possible rewards can be obtained.
- D. When we have the motivation to do things.

29. What can we learn from the passage?

- A. Dopamine does great harm to our body.
- B. It's hard for our body to keep the balance.
- C. Dopamine tolerance keeps us away from games.
- D. Video games produce more dopamine than study.

30. What is the purpose of the fifth paragraph?

- A. To explain why dopamine is harmful.
- B. To introduce the effects of dopamine.

- C. To offer solutions to dopamine tolerance. D. To stress the importance of dopamine.
31. What is the author's attitude toward dopamine?
- A. Objective. B. Doubtful. C. Concerned. D. Negative.

D

Farmers and hunters are calling for an extension (延期) to the Victorian duck hunting season, saying certain species are doing great harm to crops and waterways and need to be controlled. This season runs from 8:00 am today and will end in 20 days, down from the usual 12 weeks, with a bag limit of five listed game ducks per day.

Wayne Shields grows leafy greens on the Mornington Peninsula and he said the decision to reduce the duck hunting season would take its toll on farmers. "The wood ducks are the ones causing all of the damage; the black ducks are no problem around here. The wood ducks come in at night and they just clean me out completely and they've done it a number of times over a number of years," he said.

Mr. Shields and his wife, Natasha, run Peninsula Fresh Organics and he said there was nothing he could do to stop the invasion (入侵). "I nearly went broke a few years ago. Back then I was planting 10,000 lettuce (生菜) a week and they would quite happily eat 10,000 lettuce a week." Due to the damage caused by the wood ducks, Mr. Shields said there should be a year-round open season on the wood ducks and farmers should be allowed to shoot birds.

Professor Richard Kingsford, Director of the Centre for Ecosystem Science at UNSW, said although the wood ducks ate crops, extending the duck season may not achieve what farmers wanted. He is calling on the government to invest more in research to address the threat certain species of waterbirds caused for some farmers, so other nonlethal (非致命的) ways to destroy the birds can be found.

32. How is this year's duck hunting season different?
- A. It is put off. B. It is cut short.
C. It is about five species. D. It takes place mainly on farms.
33. What does the underlined part "take its toll on" in paragraph 2 mean?
- A. Make way for. B. Keep an eye on.
C. Cause damage to. D. Take control of.
34. What did Mr. Shields experience several years ago?
- A. The invasion of the black ducks.
B. The difficulty of keeping business.
C. The negative influence of the hunting season.
D. The daytime trouble caused by the wood ducks.
35. What does Richard Kingsford suggest concerning the wood ducks?
- A. Scientifically managing them.

- B. Encouraging hunters to catch them.
- C. Extending the duck hunting season.
- D. Using deadly ways to drive them away.

Dear John,

Sorry to hear that you have trouble getting on well with your new classmates and I understand your feelings. Try the following suggestions.

Firstly, keep in mind that any good relationship is based on understanding, trust and respect. If we respect others and treat them sincerely, we are sure to gain their respect in return. Besides, regular and honest communication plays a significant role in keeping a healthy relationship. When faced with some problems with your classmates, you should calm down, explain your feelings clearly and address your problems together.

Hope my suggestions will be helpful. Good luck with your new relationship with others!

Yours,

Li Hua

听力材料

1.【原文】W: It's a beautiful day. We should go for a walk in the woods. I bet a lot of people will be having a picnic there today.

M: There will be too many people. A drive to the seaside would be better.

2. 【原文】 W: If I were your teacher, I would give an A for your speech.

M: Thank you for your help, Ms. Daisy. My mom said we were so lucky to live next to you.

3. 【原文】 M: Your daughter Jocelyn dances so well. Does she attend any dancing classes?

W: Yes, she takes dance lessons on Friday and Saturday every week. But from next month on, she will go to the class on Sunday too.

4.【原文】M: Hi, Lucy. Why are you so late? Is the traffic held up? Or is there anything wrong with your car?

W: Actually, I got here on my bike. I am sick of the bus. It's too crowded. My car is limited today.

5. 【原文】 W: Wow! I can see the hills from your windows. Is that the reason you moved to this area?

M: No. I came here because it meant I'd have an easier journey to work. It's not cheap to live here, unfortunately, but I've got loads of space.

6. 【原文】 M: The car isn't running smoothly. I'd like to have a look at it.

W: What's the matter with it?

M: I am not sure, It could be the tire. Let's stop here.

W: How about the tires?

M: Nothing serious. The right one needs some air.

W: What about the engine?

M: It's not overheated.

W: Thank goodness. Let's get in. We can get home on time to prepare for Tom's birthday party first.

7. 【原文】 M: Are you interested in music, Mrs. Rogers?

W: Yes, I'm taking a course of classical music now, but jazz is my favorite. And my husband is crazy about rock music.

M: You play the violin, don't you?

W: A little bit, but my husband is much better than me. He can also play the drums quite well, which he learned from my uncle.

M: Really? I hope I can hear your husband play some day.

W: Why not come to our house this Friday evening? We are having a party to welcome my music teacher.

M: Thank you. I'd love to.

8. 【原文】 W: Hello. I work for Sunny Tour Holidays and I'm interviewing people about their holidays. Would you mind answering a few questions for our survey?

M: No, not at all.

W: Thanks a lot. First, could you tell me about your last holiday? Any difficulties?

M: Well, our plane didn't take off on time. It was delayed five hours, so we didn't get to Lhasa until four in the morning and we were very tired when we got there. But we managed to book a car at the airport through a car rental platform and it dropped us off at the hotel in time around 7 o'clock for breakfast. So that was all right.

W: And how was the hotel?

M: Well, we were a little disappointed with the room. But the Potala Palace was just a stone's throw away.

W: And how important are holidays to you?

M: Oh, we always look forward to going on holiday. We always make sure we can get away at least once a year.

9. 【原文】 W: Well, hello there, Paul! Wow! Long time no see! It is great to see you again.

M: Deborah! It is you. Hello! What a coincidence! I have not seen you in ages! It is great to see you again. What are you doing in Manchester? Are you just visiting?

W: I just got a new job in Manchester in finance, so I am here shopping for some new clothes. Hey, what do you think of this skirt?

M: Hmm... well, you remember how much my wife loves black. See? She has got the same skirt as you!

W: Your wife has always had great taste in clothes! Well, this is a small world.

M: We must keep in touch. You still have my mobile number?

W: No. I lost my phone. Here is my new number.

M: Ok, I will save your number.

W: Great. Oh, I have to go. I made an appointment with my friends to see a movie. Give me a ring so we can arrange dinner sometime.

M: For sure. Take care. Bye.

10. 【原文】 W: I almost had a complete disaster yesterday, but I just missed it. I went to the gym around noon and worked out for an hour. When I stopped by the bakery to pick up some bread for dinner, I discovered I didn't have my wallet with me. I went home, but it wasn't there, either. Then I remembered I had had it with me on the golf course the day before. I had two hundred dollars in it, my Visa card, and my driver's license. I decided to go back to the golf course and try to get my wallet back. I needed to fill up the car with gas to the course, but luckily, I had a bank card at home. When I finally got there, I asked around the changing room, but no one had seen it. Then I asked the people in the restaurant and they didn't have it, either. My last chance was the kids outside who wash the golf carts. And they told me one of workers found it when he was cutting the grass in the morning. I offered to treat the guy to a round of golf, but he said he plays there for free, anyway. Finally, he said if I came back, I could buy him a beer. I told him he had a deal.
